Carus™ . 390 range

Striking contrasts. Professional comfort. Exclusive workmanship.

The striking contrast between the elegant profile of the frame and the clear contours of the one-piece upholstery simply make the four-legged conference chair Carus stand out. The frame lends the chair an elegantly light look and the upholstery suggests quality, exclusivity and comfort. Two different backrest heights without armrests, or with open-sided armrests or armrests that cover the frame offer the right solution for all requirements.

Precision and quality are two attributes typical of the chair – both inside and out. The unitary solid wood frame, the elastic fabric and breathable moulded foam cushion that covers the frame at the side too, guarantee exceptional comfort and extreme durability. The frame, made of extremely precise, bright chromium-plated flat-steel tubing, combines advanced flexibility with a lighter weight. As a result, Carus is ideal for exclusive meeting and conference rooms and is both contemporary and traditional at the same time. Perfect for lawyers' offices, company restaurants or business clubs.

black leather, armrests closed at the sides, bright chromium-plated frame

The open-sided armrests have a U-shape, so the elegant contours of the chair are retained when viewed from the sides. Precision seams and a concealed diaphragm device between the seat and back ensure the cushion give the cushion a tapered look. Upholstery materials can be selected from the particularly high-quality range of Wilkhahn fabrics and leathers.
