Wilkhahn's WiChair

Understated. Until you sit.

Milan / Bad Münders, April 2026. Wilkhahn's new WiChair makes sitting refreshingly energizing. The fact that this concept is not only ergonomic but also ecologically pioneering is confirmed by its latest award: The WiChair has been honored with the German Sustainability Award Products 2026.

At first glance, it comes in a clear, pared-down and almost understated design. But its special springy, three-dimensional and surprisingly comfortable design (even with a wooden shell) immediately become apparent when people sit down on it.

Alongside the unique experience when sat on, the WiChair stands apart for its timeless design and diverse design options. Frames of raw steel, or in monochrome colors, diverse variants of the seat and backrest shells in oak and color-matched, removable covers plus full upholstery make the chair a versatile companion in offices, studios or homes.

And because design and sustainability are a must at Wilkhahn, the WiChair isn't just durable and repair friendly, but comes with a particularly low carbon footprint.

The WiChair is available from authorized Wilkhahn dealers and selected online platforms.
