Regional Sales Manager, Middle East (m/f)

To strengthen our established position in the Middle East, we are recruiting a Regional Sales Manager (m/f) to be based in our Dubai office and to handle sales responsibilities within the Middle East and GCC.

You will have a dynamic personality and would be required to manage all strategic aspects of specified key accounts, motivate and support existing and new clients, liaise with A&D community and project management firms in order to promote brand awareness.

Your accomplishments will enable you effectively coordinate complex projects for high-grade investment products. You should have a strong sales background, and ideally would have a relevant degree in design and architecture or similar, in order to be able convincingly represent Wilkhahn's product and design philosophy. The position involves frequent travel throughout the GCC.

You must be fluent in English and under the best of circumstances, you already have contacts to leading architects and designers in the region.

We can offer you exciting responsibilities in an innovative, design-focused company with an international approach. If you wish to work in a corporate culture that is customer- and team-driven, we are looking forward to receiving your application (accompanied by references and CV), as well as details of the salary you are looking for and your earliest starting date.

Send your application by e-mail to info@wilkhahn-me.com.
